About

Overview

Attorney Wei-Chun Chou has over ten years of experience practicing law. He has also taught corporate law at the Central Legal Institute. With his expertise in business law, he currently serves as legal counsel to several well-known companies and has extensive practical experience.

During his career, Attorney Chou has held various important positions in the Taoyuan Bar Association and the National Federation of Bar Associations. As Chair of the China Affairs Committee of the National Federation of Bar Associations, he effectively promoted exchanges and cooperation between lawyers across the Taiwan Strait. He also maintains deep friendships with relevant government agencies, bar associations, and university law departments, which is conducive to the development of cross-strait legal business.

In addition to his private practice, Attorney Chou is also passionate about pro bono work. With a heart for giving back to society, he has served as a legal aid lawyer for the Legal Aid Foundation and a court-appointed lawyer, earning the high regard of clients and the legal community.
